

Grassroots Focus on Bob and Polly Isinghood

March, 2007

Bob and Polly Isinghood have been active conservative members of the Republican Party for the past twenty years. In 1988 they attended their precinct meeting after casting their vote in the Republican Party election. By participating in that precinct meeting they understood the importance of the Republican platform and how they could be involved with a party that held their same beliefs. They began to help conservative, pro-life candidates get elected. Bob says there is no job too big or too small to tackle when you are standing for what is right. He became chairman of precinct 1206 in 1992 and still holds that position. Together they have helped with phone banks, mail outs, making signs, walking their precinct and always volunteering their time to go to Senatorial and State conventions so that their conservative views can stay strong in the Republican Party. Bob is retired after spending 20 years in the Air Force and Polly is Executive Director of the Pregnancy Help Center in west Fort Worth. They have 6 grown children, 12 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren. They have encouraged all their children, grandchildren, friends and neighbors to take advantage of our right to vote and be involved in the election process.
